ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE of the GREAT EXHIBITION, published in connexion with the "ART-JOURNAL."

"It will assuredly tend to accelerate that mighty and universal advance in the arts which the Great Exhibition has brought about, and it will give to some who are not permitted to see with their own eyes the concentrated trophies of the world's art, ideas, the utmost of which may be incalculably valuable; and to others, who have gazed upon and studied them, it will be a faithful remembrancer, renewing the delights, and deepening the impressions of that unparalleled display of the fertility and richness of human genius."—Sheffield Independent.

THE BUILDING FOR THE GREAT EXHIBITION OF 1851, IN HYDE PARK.—Preparing for publication, in one quarto volume, with Twenty-four large Plates (mostly folding), a work showing the construction of the above building, illustrated by plans, elevations, sections, and detail drawings, prepared from authentic documents by CHARLES DOWER, Esq., Architect; with descriptive text by CHARLES COOPER, Esq., C.E.; forming together a very useful book of reference on this economic system of building, for Civil Engineers, Architects, Builders, and others. As this work will, from its elaborate character, require much time in the careful preparation of the plates, it is proposed that it be issued in Four Monthly Parts at 5s. each; the first part to be issued on the 1st of June, and the concluding part on the 1st of September next; or the entire work complete in one volume, in appropriate cloth binding, 20s.

The names of Subscribers will be received by Mr. WEALE, 59, High Holborn, London.

To be published immediately,

Fellow of the Institute of Architects; Corresponding Member of several Societies.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"The bold and effective woodcuts which have now appeared for some years past in the weekly sheets of our excellent contemporary The Builder, must be familiar to all who are the least interested in architecture, if it were only from the sheer they make among the fullness of the 'illustrated' pages in the windows of the newsvendors. It will, we are sure, be very acceptable to such to set a higher value upon these prints than the ephemeral pleasure they give on their first appearances, to have them bound and well-printed in volumes at a very moderate price. In the present publication, open to us, with the advantages of glossy ink and tinted paper, the volume a beauty which some persons will be scarcely prepared to expect, who are not fully aware of the great importance of [illegible] pertaining to wood engravings."—Gentleman's Magazine.

"This elegant and handsome re-issue of the periodical cuts which have appeared from time to time in The Builder is an exceedingly useful addition to illustrated literature. We know that many a [illegible] and purchased by many who have no connexion with 'building;' there are, however, a class who are not aware of the value or curiosity of the many engravings, and such persons will, no doubt, avail themselves of this handsome re-issue of them, printed on finer paper, and with greater care and accompanied with a graceful [illegible] of descriptive letter-press."—Art Journal.

"A publication of much merit and interest. The articles are terse and sensible, the engravings excellent."—The Literary Gazette.

"The idea of republishing in a separate and handsome form some of the best architectural subjects that have been given in The Builder was a good one. Besides being thus brought together in a comparatively small and convenient compass, separate from miscellaneous matters of only technical or temporary interest, the woodcuts are so greatly improved in appearance that they assuredly seem to be from the same blocks as before. The same illustrations, or the same number of them, could not have been brought out at the same price had not the blocks been already executed, and had their not carried their purpose in a perfectly satisfactory manner."—The Athenæum.

"Unparalleled in the artistic world for cheapness as well as for utility and beauty of effect."—"It is among the cheapest and the best works of the kind ever published."—The Britannia.

"This ought to be bought by public purchasers, for it certainly affords, at a very moderate price, a greater quantity and variety of entertainment to the eye as well as to the mind than has hitherto been afforded by any popular architectural publication. It appears to us a judicious [illegible] of interesting new buildings, together with others of older date."—The Globe.

"This is a happy idea, most skilfully carried out. Fine printing and a deep yellow paper give a most charming effect to the engravings and tasteful illustrations of the edifices of the nineteenth century, and of some of the architectural works of the Middle Ages; and the work will thus worthily fill a gap in pictorial literature—for we have no popular book of consequence on modern architecture. Medieval structures, however, have rarely been more effectively treated."—Gloucester Journal.
